

LiLaw Inc., A Silicon Valley Law Firm

LiLaw is a law firm based in Los Altos, California, in the heart of Silicon Valley. LiLaw is specialized in business legal matters, especially business litigation including IP, commercial, and employment litigation. LiLaw also advises clients on business transactional matters such as investment agreements, mergers and acquisitions, and IP procurement.

LiLaw's founder and president is J. James Li, Ph.D. Dr. Li is a seasoned trial lawyer with nearly 20 years of experiences in various business legal matters. Before founding LiLaw, Dr. Li was a partner in an international law firm. Dr. Li is listed in the National Register's Who's Who in Executives and Professionals.

Currently, LiLaw has two other lawyers, Tony Abdollahi, Of Counsel, and Andy Pierz, Associate. Mr. Abdollahi is a seasoned litigator while Mr. Pierz is a registered Patent Attorney. LiLaw's senior paralegal and office manager, Cheryl Chen, is a Ph.D. in Pharmacology.

LiLaw has the deep experience in all types business litigation including patent, copyright, trademark, trade secret, right of publicity, contract, fraud, fiduciary duty, discrimination, wages and hours. LiLaw's litigation experience spans the whole procedural spectrum including state and federal court trials and appeals, arbitrations and mediations. LiLaw's transactional experience includes patent, trademark and copyright applications, and investment and license deals in movie, high technology and biotechnology fields.

When Dr. Li came out of Big Laws to found his own firm, his vision was to provide high quality and yet affordable legal services to small and midsize companies. That vision is now a reality, as reflected by LiLaw's mantra: "Big Firm Qualify; Small Firm Cost."